Who We Are At Lonely Planet, we see our job as inspiring and enabling travellers to connect with the world for their own benefit and for the benefit of the world at large. What We Do * We offer travellers the world's richest travel advice, informed by the collective wisdom of over 350 Lonely Planet authors living in 37 countries and fluent in 70 languages. * We are relentless in finding the special, the unique and the different for travellers wherever they are. * When we update our guidebooks, we check every listing, in person, every time. * We always offer the trusted filter for those who are curious, open minded and independent. * We challenge our growing community of travellers; leading debate and discussion about travel and the world. * We tell it like it is without fear or favor in service of the travellers; not clouded by any other motive. What We Believe We believe that travel leads to a deeper cultural understanding and compassion and therefore a better world.

The book is set up well and gives some great information. It is a bit dated but the sights are the same; you just need to consider that any fees might be higher. Overall it met my needs and it is much easier to have one book where I can get the info I need rather than balance 2 books throughout the trip.

The book met my expectations. It had great information and was well kept. I have learned a great deal about Australia and New Zealand from the book's information. Easy reading. The book was sent in a timely manner.

Useful information for future vacation.

I bought it for a trip later this year. I love the planning part of the adventure. This makes the planning fun. I will know later if the stuff is still there.

I will not travel anywhere without a lonely planet book. They are filled with so much information and allow you to feel safe when traveling to places and countries you have never been to.

It was in really poor condition and I just didn't research it's content before buying.

It's a great book. It is very complete and very accurate, most of the times. I didn't gave it 5 stars because sometimes it isn't very easy to find the information. I recommend it.

Typical Lonely Planet fare: puts a wide range of sights/activities covering all budgets into succinct pieces without overdoing the tourist spots. The combo AUS/NZ is ideal if you're spending a month or less down under hopping to various locales and don't need all the details of separate guidebooks for each country. The suggestions of this version were all current (as of Jan 08). This book will even steer you to the unique spots and from there you can hit up the locals for more input. If spending greater than a week in any particular city, I'd augment w/ separate city guidebook.
