Jordan Quinn grew up in a fairy tale castle in England. It had a spiral stone staircase, a moat, and a dungeon. As a child she liked to play hide-and-go-seek and ride her beloved horse, Prince Charming. When she wasn't riding, she wrote stories about fairies, trolls, dragons, and wizards. Today Jordan lives on a ranch in California with her husband, son, and a golden retriever named Sir Toots-a-Lot. Robert McPhillips has been involved in a wide variety of projects over the years from illustrating greeting cards to animation, though he especially loves illustrating children's books. Robert makes his home in Wiltshire, England, with his wife, Sam.

This is a great book for kids that have started to be interested in chapter books. Short, eventful chapters with easy to follow story lines. Both male and female main characters. Good for 1st or 2nd Graders. A good 2nd grade reader might be able to go through this book in a single afternoon. Ogres, fairies, mermaids, dragons, princes... and a healthy relationship between parents and children. They are easy to read aloud too. Fun!

My son loves books from this series (The Kingdom of Wrenly). He came from school and asked me to find them and get them all. All kids in school love them and he was reading it by himself without me asking!!! (7years old)

I was having trouble finding books my son would want to read. He was 8 when I found these and a little behind in his reading. I wanted something that would be interesting enough to keep him engaged. As far as the story line goes, I would not rate it very high but I'm not the one reading it so that doesn't really matter. My son fell in love with the book and so far it is the only series that he wants to read and enjoys reading. If your child enjoys adventure and a little mystery then they will love these books too.

Finally a book that even I enjoy honestly. We've tried a few different chapter book options. Our latest foray was with the Captain Awesome series. We went through 3 of them. My son claimed to be okay with them but he still had to be forcefully persuaded to read. I didn't like them so much as they used lots of words that aren't actually words. Lots of made up words and every book had one of the characters speaking with his mouth full so the text was some garbled sentence that would leave my son completely at a loss. Now maybe that is some trick to create great readers and I'm way off base for being bothered by it, I don't know, but I didn't like it. So I took my son to a brick and mortar book store and we went through dozens of books trying to find something that might work. This is how we stumbled upon this series. I only bought the first book so that we could try it out without a big investment. After finishing this book, I hopped on and ordered the rest in the series. LOVED it. The story, the illustrations, the lack of made up words.... ;- ) It holds my sons interest. When we finish reading the chapters and I ask him to summarize what we read, HE CAN! For some of you, this may not be a big deal, but my son is not a "reader" per se. He's good at it but it hasn't held his interest thus far. Until now. I am so thankful for this series.

We are just introducing our son to chapter books, and I wasn't sure what we would find. These seem to be great stories (he is on book 4 right now). They have simple plots, but enough details to keep him interested. He always wants us to read more at the end of story time, and I think that is great. There is also both male and female characters, something not all authors pull off well.

My niece loves these books! She is finishing third grade. She loves to read and can read a book from this series in a hour! I can't buy them fast enough for her!

I can't actually say I have read this as my 7 year old reads them before I get a chance to read them to him. He scoops up these books and reads them instantly. They are easy reads, true, but the point is he won't put them down until they are done. Which usually takes him a couple of days. We have lots of books that he enjoys but not that he consumes so aggressively as these.

A little too short for my 9 year old son, but he still enjoyed it.
