Synopsis

A beautiful, playful, child-centric approach to language learning; and if it spawns conversations about dialects, so much the better. Kirkus; This interactive picture book is sure to be a young crowd-pleaser and storytime favorite. School Library Journal
Rubén Fuentes is the daughter and apprentice of a famous Oaxacan woodcarver. Oddly, she met Efraim Broa in Atlanta, GA, during a demonstration of her technique. They fell in love and returned to Oaxaca where she taught her new husband the art of carving. It took two years of patient work to fill these pages with vibrant, wildly imaginative figures of familiar animals.

Customer Reviews

PreS-K Looking for a fun and attractive picture book for bilingual storytime? Oaxacan wood sculptures in this work will captivate young readers with colorful images and simple vocabulary in English and Spanish. For example, "What do horses say? NEIGH NEIGH. ¿Qué dicen los caballos? JIII JIII." Children will enjoy making 15 various animal sounds in both languages.

Roosters, kitties, fish, goats, cows, and owls are among the featured animals. A pronunciation guide on the last page will prove to be helpful. The folk art provides vibrant colors seen in Mexico. Pair with Lois Ehlert's Rrralph or Jules Feiffer's Bark, George for a fantastic time. VERDICT This interactive picture book is sure to be a young crowd-pleaser and storytime favorite. — Martha Rico, El Paso ISD, TX --This text refers to the Hardcover edition.
