Customer Reviews

Thomas W. Paradis is a professor of geography, planning and recreation, and director of the office of academic assessment at the Northern Arizona University, USA. He is the author of two books and has contributed many articles to journals and books.

My son has recently become fascinated with landmarks, and this book has kept him occupied for several hours. He is very pleased with it, and thus, so am I. He also now knows more U.S. landmarks than I do.

great product and service
