Escaping The Military

Synopsis

The purpose of this book is to inspire YOU, but not only that, it's to teach you to be inspirational with your own story. Everyone has a story that is only specific to them. Inside of this book, you'll find mine. I take you from my backstory, to what I wanted to accomplish as a young man after high school. In my joining the Air Force you will understand the external and internal struggles and the problems that led me to a new journey in discovering myself. You'll recognize the epiphany I had, the plan I created to achieve my new desires, and the conflicts I encountered along the way. It may be obvious what happens at the end of the story, but it's all of experiences in between that will inspire you to never quit on what you believe in.

Aaron is an author, business owner, and husband who moved from being an unreflective teen to a person viscerally disturbed upon first sight of the reality of killing other people in war, to a person engaged in a search of his true self, to a place of peace and knowledge. He is a young man who has refused to deceive himself regarding his inner moral compass. Aaron is also a marketing strategist who helps business owners increase their customer volume through digital marketing.
