Customer Reviews

What a great adventure ebook for especially boys but some girls may really enjoy this ebook also. But I recommend this now for kids ages 3-8 & grade level P-3. Also nice sized print and beautiful illustrations so for these items I wish to give it five stars. I received this ebook for free and in return for it, is my honest review. Super job Efrat! By Angela. P.s. Would you like me to be one of your beta readers? I love it. All the details. My child loves it so much. Great children's book! Make more great books like these!

This story is about a cute happy youngster named Alex and his cute smiling dog Max. It is just the kind of adventure that kids like. Efrat Haddi draws kids into the excitement of her story and Abira Das' happy and colorful drawings dramatize the tale. Alex's father sells antiques from foreign lands which Alex liked to play with. One item is a shiny sword that Alex's dad tells him was once used by a prince in a lost kingdom, because no one knows where it is. Alex's dad explains that the prince used the sword to scare away a fire breathing dragon to save a beautiful princess. Alex wished he could do what the prince did. Alex saw that his dad also had an old, torn, carpet, which his dad told him was a magic carpet, which could not be used anymore because people forgot the magic words to make it work. Alex also found a bag in his dad's store. When he opened the bag, a genie flew out. Children will be delighted to find out what happens next. Will the genie help Alex? What will Alex do?

Author Efrat Haddi, with excellent support from illustrator Abira Das, has written a fine little story about the value of courage, and the clever way she tells the story makes it remarkable and memorable for children. Efrat Haddi obviously understands children (she is a mother of 3!) as well as the techniques of teaching children concepts through stories. This is a very well written and illustrated book that should become a favorite bedtime story - with a lesson. Alex is a little lad with a little pup and is fascinated with his father's antique shop with all the stories his father shares about the origin of things. Alex inquires about a sword in the shop and his father tells him the sword once belonged to a prince who lived in a lost kingdom and who used the sword to scare away a fire breathing dragon. Alex is very curious (of course) and when he finds an old carpet his father tells him it was a magic flying carpet - but that could fly only with some forgotten magic words. Also in the shop is an old bag and when Alex opens the bag out pops a giant genie who promises to give him three wishes. Naturally the first wish is to fly to the lost kingdom (with his pup and the genie) and once there they spy the princess of the story with a dragon standing guard. The genie can't change that, but Alex's sword can. So they all gain entrance into the lost kingdom and are ready for the next adventure! More magic and fairy tale feeling in this story than usual for Efrat and she and Abira handle it beautifully. More please. Grady Harp, April 15

It was so good. I liked the characters, especially the genie. Kids would like this book. This book should get a good review.
